The same association requested the installation of street lights at certain locations in West Highland Park. The petition was referred to Superintendent Trafford, of the Electric Plant.

The attention of the board was also directed in the petitions to the section of the city, and the request was made that water mains be extended for this purpose. The convention adopted resolutions suggesting a number of changes in the interchange rules to make them more uniform. The convention adjourned on record as being anxious to see that the shippers get the best accommodation possible through a better general understanding of the interchangeable rules of railroads from Maine to California.

This road will show earnings during the current fiscal year of 12 per cent on common stock of $167,000,000, according to the Wall Street Journal. This will show a fair increase over last year when the line earned about 8.5 per cent net.

President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern Railway, sending out calls for the annual meeting of the road, which will be held in this city October 12, at 10 o'clock. This city is the official home office of the railroad and the meetings are held here. W. A. Hunter, of 121 East Ninth Street, was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Justice H. A. Maurer, for being drunk and disorderly. Hunter created considerable excitement in the neighborhood of his home Wednesday night when he fired a pistol several times and drove members of the family from the house.

Family troubles were aired when Mrs. Lottie Burnett appeared against her husband, James Burnett, charging him with pursuing and threatening her with bodily harm. Burnett was placed on probation and was required to contribute $1 weekly to his wife's support.

WILL FIGHT PAYMENT OF INSANE WOMAN'S TAXES

J. Frederick Kernochan, of New York, Admits Marie Marshall Estate Is Worth $3,000,000.

GOES TO HER TWO SISTERS

In Interview, Kernochan Says Miss Marshall Is New Yorker; in Sworn Affidavit Filed in New York, He Says Her Residence Is in Virginia.

Metaphorically speaking, the plot in the Marie Marshall estate tax tangle thickens. A new climax has developed in the expressed determination of J. Frederick Kernochan, who, with the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, is setting a committee in Williamsburg, to resist payment of taxes to the State of Virginia and city of Williamsburg.

Mr. Kernochan says that fair and reasonable and just taxes on the Marie Marshall estate have been paid in past years, will be paid for the current year and will be paid in future years. But Miss Marshall's estate will not accept the estimate of taxes due, based upon the report of Examiner of Records Sydney Smith. The committee will fight to the court of last resort, the United States Supreme Court.

ESTATE IS VALUED

BY KEROCHAN AT $3,000,000.
"The value of Miss Marshall's estate," says Mr. Kernochan, "is probably $3,000,000. It did not amount to that much when she died in 1881. It is made up of bonds and mortgages. Whatever real estate has been added to it was through the foreclosure of mortgages. The real estate is but a small part of the whole. Miss Marshall is a New Yorker, and she has lived in Williamsburg for years."

"I want to say that there has been no attempt to evade the payment of taxes. All these years the real estate owned by her in Virginia and she has paid for the horses and carriages and for all her property in that State, and she includes the income she spent there. In New York her property is not taxable because it is nearly all in non-taxable mortgages. Unless the Virginia authorities change their minds the examiner's report will mean a lawsuit. We will surely resist payment."

CITY OF WILLIAMSBURG

CLAIMS TOTAL OF $600,000.
All of which indicates that the State and the city of Williamsburg are confronted by long and strenuous litigation, for the authorities are inclined to relieve the estate of the accumulated back taxes due. The Williamsburg authorities, who are standing by the examiner's report, claim taxes amounting to approximately $600,000. The State's claim, based upon the examiner's figures, is about $195,000.

It is learned that the initiative in the search for omitted taxable values in the Marshall estate was taken in New York by the City Council of Williamsburg, and the local Board of Review. The board instructed Examiner Smith to delve into the records and employed to assist him, Attorney General Frank E. Blair, of Williamsburg, and S. Otis Bland, of Newport News. Examiner Smith entered energetically into the quest after the omitted taxable values.

Attorney General John Garland Pollard, who has been informed of the situation by the local Board of Review, wrote to Mr. Smith, advising him as to his duties in the matter. Attorney Armstrong and Bland went to New York and probed deep into the affairs of the estate of the multi-millionaire insane woman. Attorney General Pollard gave the case his special attention and has secured from the records a certified copy of the affidavit filed by Mr. Kernochan when he asked for the State of the multi-millionaire insane woman. Attorney General Pollard gave the case his special attention and has secured from the records a certified copy of the affidavit filed by Mr. Kernochan when he asked for the State of the multi-millionaire insane woman.

VIRGINIAN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORKER IN VIRGINIA.
In the interview quoted above Mr. Kernochan is represented as saying: "Miss Marshall is a New Yorker, although for years she has lived in Williamsburg, Va."

In the affidavit filed by Mr. Kernochan to the Department of Taxes and Assessments of New York City, February 11, 1935, he swears as follows: "The said Marie Marshall is not a resident of the State of New York. She was not a resident of the State of New York on the second Monday of January, 1935. She is a resident of the State of Virginia continuously for over thirty years past."

The facts are available at Williamsburg disclose that about five years ago Miss Marshall's personal property assessment at Williamsburg was $25,000. No itemized statement was handed in for her, but the amount was taxed, according to the law, on the basis of personal property to that extent. When her statement was given for taxation in 1934 the bulk amount was listed as follows: Money, tax. Horses, carriages and other valuable belongings were not listed for taxation. Presumably the year 1930, it is stated, Miss Marshall's estate paid taxes on $500,000 of intangibles each year in New York.

Mr. Kernochan was appointed a committee for Miss Marshall in 1894 in New York and in 1895 he qualified in Williamsburg as her committee in Virginia. Miss Marshall, now sixty-two years old, has been in Williamsburg since 1872.

By order of the court in New York in 1896 her committee was authorized to spend $50,000 for the purchase of the residence she has since occupied in Williamsburg, adjoining the Eastern State Hospital grounds. That property with its contents is now valued at $100,000.

It is estimated that Miss Marshall's estate has been increasing for years in value at the rate of $100,000 a year.

KEROCHAN CLAIMED TO KNOW

LITTLE OF ESTATE

Attorney Kernochan, at the request of the local Board of Review of Williamsburg appeared before the body when the estate was being probed this year. Replying to questions concerning the status of affairs, he said that he was unable to give any detailed information. Since the case was appointed a co-committee, Kernochan, he had left the active management of the estate largely to the co-committee. He was unable to give the board any detailed information, but promised to supply the figures asked for.

Miss Marshall has two sisters, Mrs. Pollok and Mrs. Kernochan, both of New York. They are the legal heirs of the insane woman. Some years ago a son of Mrs. Pollok filed a petition in court asking that he be allowed an annuity from the estate of his insane aunt. He represented that he had only an income of $7,000 a year and he found it impossible to live on it. His station in life should live. The court allowed him $3,000 a year for four years.

CONFERENCE IS HELD ON NATIONAL DEFENSE

Virginia Branch of National Security League Is Formed Here.

WEST OUTLINES ITS SCOPE

Rally to Be Held in October, When General E. W. Nichols, of Virginia Military Institute, Will Make Principal Address.

For the purpose of creating and crystallizing sentiment for more adequate preparedness for the national defense, a permanent organization, consisting of thirty-four prominent Richmond men, was formed yesterday at the Business Men's Club. The organization was known as the Virginia Branch of the National Security League, and will work in conjunction with the parent organization in New York City. Wyndham R. Meredith was chosen chairman, and William Todd and Edward J. Willis were elected secretary and treasurer. The president will later appoint an executive committee of three.

The following resolution, prepared at the instance of Governor Stuart, was introduced and unanimously adopted: "Resolved, that we respectfully request his excellency, the Honorable Henry C. Stuart, Governor of this State, to cause to be prepared and introduced in the next session of the General Assembly a bill for the purpose of establishing a Virginia State Committee on National Defense, of such number as he may deem proper, and representing all sections of the State."

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

OUTLINES PLANS.
Henry L. West, executive secretary of the National Security League and ex-commissioner of the city of Washington, met the organizers and outlined the purpose and scope of the organization. The league in no sense, said Mr. West, stands for anything like militarism, but, awakened to the fact that this country is woefully unprepared for any emergency, it is a powerful enemy might make, it preaches the gospel of preparedness, realizing that that is the only effective way of keeping the peace and of obviating the danger of war.

Mr. West said that the history of the world proves that war is never impossible, and the terrible struggle now raging in Europe brings out that fact only too clearly. Experience has shown, he said, that treaties are un dependable, and that international law offers no safeguard. He called attention to Switzerland, the "foremost of Europe," hemmed in on all sides by warring nations, yet peaceful through preparedness. Switzerland, he said, could mobilize her splendidly trained army within forty-eight hours.

Security Lies in National Guard.
The National Security League, said Mr. West, does not advocate an extravagant navy, nor does it stand for a large standing army. The security of the nation, he thinks, lies in the increased effectiveness of the National Guard, and thorough organization of the citizen soldiery. It stands ready to endorse and urge upon Congress the passage into law of proposals for more adequate defense by the experts of the Army and Navy, who, he thinks, are entirely competent to handle the situation, and, who, heretofore, have gotten too little consideration at the hands of Congress.

The parent organization was formed in New York City about eight months ago. Since that time branch organizations, all working in conjunction with headquarters, have been formed throughout the country, and the total membership has reached from 10,000 to 12,000. Many of the Governors of States have consented to serve on the national committee, and six of them have appointed committees on national defense. Samuel W. Gossett, president of the American Federation of Labor, is also in sympathy with the movement.

WILL HOLD STATEWIDE

RALLY HERE IN OCTOBER

A rally, to which several hundred people are invited, will be held in this city at some future date, probably at the middle of October. General E. W. Nichols, superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute, in reply yesterday to an invitation, said that at that time, he would suit him. Though the league made no definite decision yesterday, it is understood that October 16 will be the date set.

The officers of the National Security League are as follows: Honorary president, Joseph H. Choate; honorary vice-president, Judge Alton B. Parker; president, S. Stanwood Menken; secretary, Herbert Barry; treasurer, E. H. Clark; executive secretary, Henry L. West; assistant secretary, E. Woodward Duke. There are three classes of membership: annual, costing $1; contributing, costing $5; and life, costing $25.

Charged With Speeding.

R. C. McCallington, Jr., was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Special Officer Charles E. Strang, of Henrico, charged with recklessly running his automobile and exceeding the speed limit on the Williamsburg Road. The arrest was made at the junction of the Williamsburg and Charles City Roads after a chase from Seven Pines. McCallington was released under a $100 bond for his appearance before a magistrate.

Warrant for Altered Speeder.

A warrant was issued yesterday by Magistrate T. Puryear, of Henrico, for the arrest of John P. Lea, an attorney of this city, charged with exceeding the speed limit on the Cary Street Road, just outside the city limits. The warrant was sworn out by Deputy Sheriff W. Webb Sydney, who witnessed the alleged wild driving of the attorney.

PROPOSES SALVAGE CORPS FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Administrative Board Asks Commissioner Lecky to Sound Local Insurance Companies.

WOULD REDUCE ANNUAL LOSS

Salvage Service Is Maintained in Many Cities by Underwriters, and Corps Have Been Added to Progressive Municipal Departments.

The question of organizing in Richmond a salvage corps which shall devote itself at fires exclusively to the task of saving property, was renewed yesterday by the adoption of a motion by the Administrative Board requesting Vice-President Robert Lecky, Jr., of the Fire Board, to confer with the representatives of insurance companies in this city looking to the establishment of this service.

The salvage corps operated by the insurance companies is a recognized institution in fifteen or twenty of the larger American cities. In these cities the insurance companies contribute jointly to the maintenance of the corps which report promptly at all fires—particularly those in the congested value districts—occupying themselves with the saving of property. Mr. Lecky, who is identified with the insurance business in this city, said yesterday that while municipal fire departments all over the country in large number have added salvage corps to their regular equipment, insurance companies have discontinued the practice of establishing these corps, for about twenty years.

COMPANIES HAVE DECLINED

TO ORGANIZE NEW CORPS

"The companies have found the undertaking 'too burdensome,' said Mr. Lecky. 'Besides, paying for the maintenance of the salvage corps they have also had to reduce rates because of their existence, thus paying the freight going and coming. The corps that have been established by the companies are still in operation, but I know of no new corps established by them in fifteen or twenty years.'

"The salvage corps would be a desirable addition to the Fire Department. I am sure that the department would be glad to provide accommodations at headquarters, should the city make provision for the establishment of this service. The wagon and equipment, I believe, could be obtained for about $12,000."

With the introduction of fire-proof or nearly fire-proof buildings, the danger of destruction by flame is far smaller. This is especially true in modern retail districts where the store buildings are nearly fire-proof and the stocks of relatively high value.

SAVES MUCH PROPERTY

FROM DAMAGE BY WATER

"The salvage corps arrives at a fire almost simultaneously with the apparatus and enters the burning building spreading heavy tarpaulins over the goods or furniture. The crew acquires a special dexterity in throwing fireproof blankets with the result that the operation consumes little time. The saving in damage from water is often enormous."

"I believe that the addition of a salvage corps to the Richmond Fire Department would contribute greatly to the reduction of our annual fire loss. As time goes on and old buildings are replaced by modern structures the water damage at fires will rise in proportion to the actual flame damage, and it is then that the salvage corps will be of most service. The whole aim of fire-fighting is to reduce damage by every possible means and in this work the salvage corps would render valuable assistance."

Not having received the Board's communication yesterday, Mr. Lecky preferred not to discuss the probable action of the local fire underwriters with regard to the Administrative Board's suggestion. He recalled the fact, however, that when, ten years ago, he obtained a charter for a salvage corps proposed to be maintained by the insurance companies, the companies reported that they had declined to contribute to its maintenance and the project fell through.

WILL COST $1,800 MORE

DOCK STREET CONTRACTORS OBJECT TO BEGINNING WORK AT FOURTEENTH STREET END.

Saville & Claiborne, contractors for the Dock Street widening, informed the Administrative Board, yesterday, that an additional expense of $1,800 will be imposed on them if they are required to begin work on the Fourteenth Street end of the improvement. Such an arrangement was not contemplated by them in submitting their bid, the board is informed.

In view of these circumstances the contractors ask that the city make an additional appropriation of $1,800 to take care of the extra cost entailed in following the method of construction directed by the board. The communication was sent to the City Engineer for his recommendation and report.

Illegal Liquor Sales.

Catherine Hudson, the woman arrested some days ago by Policemen Sweet and Gary, on a charge of selling liquor without a license at 1617 Noble Street, was fined $100 and costs in the Police Court yesterday. The charges of disorderly conduct, brought against several men and women found in the house by the officers, were dismissed.

Lawn Party.

A lawn party will be given to-night by the Ladies Aid Society, of Weatherford Memorial Baptist Church, from 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Norvell, 3106 Hull Street. The party will be for the benefit of the society.

WILLIAM A. BOHANNON
DIES FROM INJURIES

Body of Man Struck by Train Is Not Identified For Some Hours After His Death.

The funeral of William A. Bohannon, who died unidentified at Memorial Hospital early yesterday morning from injuries received when he was struck by a Seaboard Air Line train on the trestle near Washington Street on Wednesday, will take place at the grave in Riverdale Cemetery this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Bohannon, who is the son of the late Professor Bohannon, one of the first instructors at the Medical College of Virginia and who taught Coroner Taylor there several years before the outbreak of the War Between the States, was identified several hours after his death by W. M. Coughlin, 502 East Marshall Street, with whom the dead man had lived. Soon after he was taken to the hospital he was identified as E. S. Chappel, an employee of the railway company, but this mistake was corrected when Chappel appeared at the offices of the company Wednesday afternoon and demanded his month's pay.

The dead man was employed at the City Home for a number of years as a wagon driver, according to Dr. R. C. Call, of this institution. He left there about a year ago and had worked at various places since.

Bohannon was walking along the viaduct which leads into Main Street Station when injured. He was run down by the train of which Engineer J. H. Griffith, of Raleigh, N. C., and Conductor M. L. Petross, of the same place, were in charge. The trestle makes a short turn at Washington Street and it is said it would have been impossible for the engineer to have seen the man in time to prevent striking him. Bohannon suffered a fracture of the skull, a fracture of the leg and a number of minor injuries. He was about sixty-eight years old. Coroner Taylor has decided an inquest is unnecessary.

MISS TATE LOCATED

Missing School Teacher Is Found to be Visiting Friends in Prince George County.

She said that she was and now they say she is dead.

Which applied to the manner in which the family of Miss Ray End Tate, the young woman reported as missing from her home in Farmington, Va., have spoken and are speaking of the young woman's alleged disappearance.

Miss Tate is spending some time with friends on the farm of Ellick Livesay, Elbow Post Office, Prince George County, according to information which reached Captain of Detectives McMahon yesterday. That information has been given R. E. Tate, the young woman's father, and he at once telephoned back to Police Headquarters asking why the newspapers said anything about his daughter's disappearance and demanding that the report be "corrected."

Captain McMahon said yesterday: "A friend of mine has been spending some time in Prince George County and returned to Richmond yesterday. He told me that Miss Tate was in the house where the girl was. After getting this information from me they telephoned back to headquarters denying that the girl was missing."

NOT DISORDERLY

Justice Crutchfield Reaps Policemen for Making Arrests and Dismissing Charges.

The cases against J. J. Parker, Florence Hartzell and Edith Moore, arrested near Fourteenth and Franklin Streets Thursday night on a charge of disorderly conduct, were dismissed yesterday by Justice Crutchfield. The judge announced that the charges were dropped because the men and women were interfering with the personal liberty of the persons before him. It was shown in court that Parker had hired an automobile and had later taken the women into the car. They had just seated themselves when arrested. The chauffeur testified that his patrons were in no way disorderly.

Lay Cornerstone To-morrow.

The Richmond Male Choral Society, under the direction of F. Flaxington Barker, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, will sing at the laying of the cornerstone of the Ginter Park School building, which will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The exercises will be held in the presence of the Rev. Dr. Barker, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Dr. Ruffin, worshipful master of Lord's Lodge, No. 317, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, assisted by other prominent Masons of the city.

Must Get Requisition Papers.

When Detective Sergeant John McAvoy, of New Haven, went to secure possession of M. H. Orenstein to take him back to New Haven on a charge of wife desertion it was found that he had not secured the necessary requisition papers, as he had understood the man was willing to return without them. It was impossible for the local police to turn Orenstein over to him. Orenstein was left for New Haven at once and will return with the necessary papers.

Orenstein was released on $1,000 bail for his appearance in Police Court on September 28.

URGES DEPARTMENT HEADS TO REPAIR ALL DITCHES

Board "Regards Nothing More Vital" Than Restoration of Pavement After Underground Construction.

The presence of an unusually large number of ditches and partially filled trenches resulting from the disturbances of street surfaces in order to make possible sewer, water, gas and public utility installations, led the Administrative Board, yesterday, to direct the attention of department heads to the importance of correcting this condition as soon as possible.

In the language of the board's resolution, the department heads are informed that it "regards nothing as more vital than the proper restoration of streets after the laying of underground work."

The authorities are directed to instruct officers, engineers and employees in all the departments to report the presence of ditches in order that they may be promptly repaired.

The department heads are directed to notify the employees under them that "the board places itself on record as looking with more favor on applications for increases in salary from energetic work along this line than from any other class of work in the city service."
